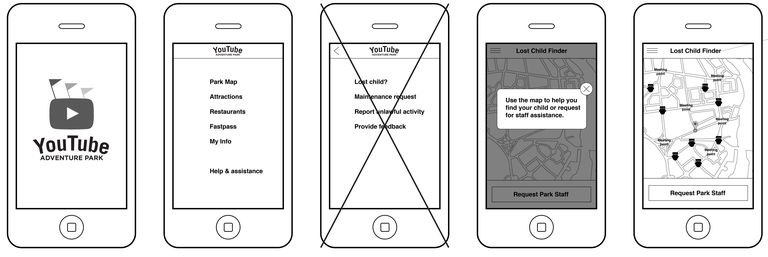
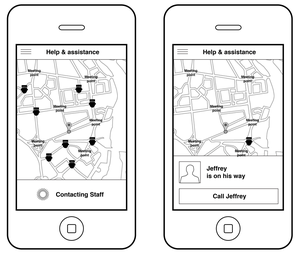
App navigation



Change to "Help & Assistance" This enables this tracker to be used for any purpose, whether it be finding a child or reporting illicit activity in the park.

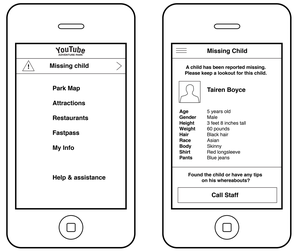
My info section displays name and phone number of parent. Also has option for them to upload a photo (most may not do this but if they do, it enables Park staff to identify parent if any help is needed)

Is this modal overlay necessary?



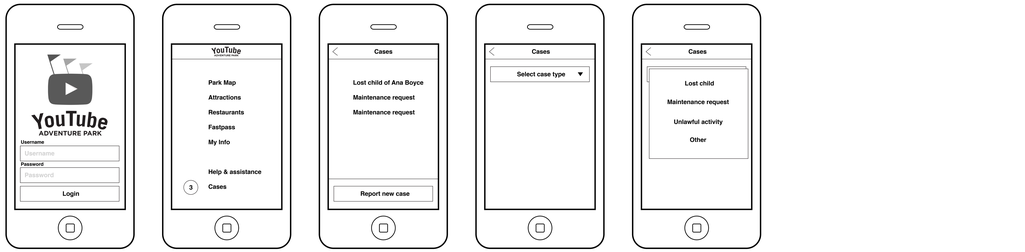
Alert screens

Alert can be shown on any screen. Butter bar should be highly visible color. This alert is for a parent who has lost his/her child.



Alert can be shown on any screen. Butter bar should be highly visible color.This alert is for circumstances where a child could possibly be kidnapped or in serious danger. It is sent to everyone who has the app in the park.

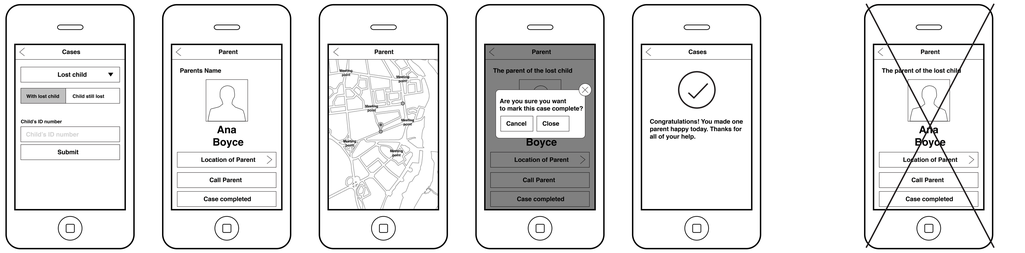
Extended build for staff



Navigation includes "Open cases"

If no cases exist, copy above will just say that. The list can be endless and will extend behind the "Report new case" button. Name of parent who has a lost child is shown after staff has submitted the ID number of child. This exists just in case there are multiple lost children.

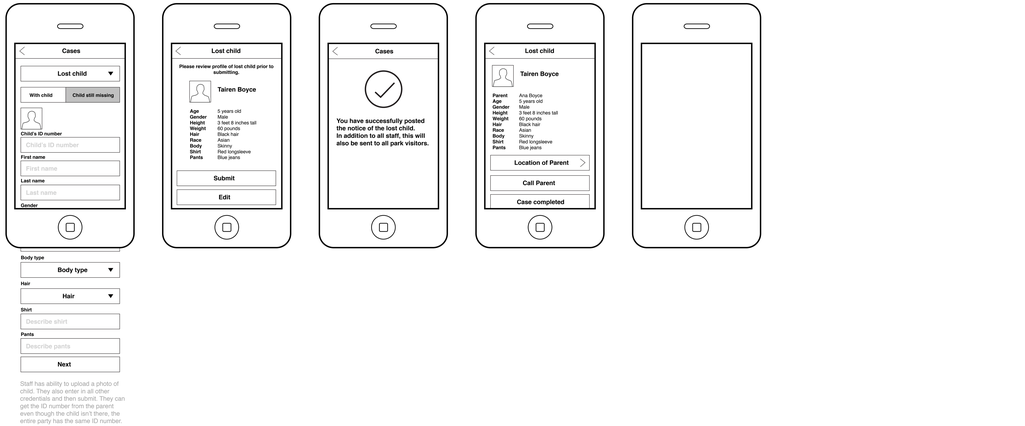
Dropdown menu list. Content on page is determined by the value selected in this list.



Staff has Parent's info from the child's id number on bracelet. They can find the location of the parent and the parent to inform them that he will bring the child to them.

Profile photo is only if a parent has uploaded a photo on their "My info" page. It may not be utilized often but it will help if it is used.

Success page is shown and eventually resolves to "Cases" list page again after a few seconds. User can also click the back button to take them there automatically.



Staff has ability to upload a photo of child. They also enter in all other credentials and then submit. They can get the ID number from the parent even though the child isn't there, the entire party has the same ID number.
